

TOTALJOBS.COM WELCOMES CV MARKET TO INTERNATIONAL NETWORK

TotalJobs.com, one of the UK's leading recruitment websites, today announces a new partnership with CV Market, the Baltic States' leading recruitment website, extending the reach of The Network to Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

As the fastest growing e-recruiter in Eastern Europe, CV Market will provide TotalJobs' European partnership base, The Network, with a strong market presence in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. This further expansion also confirms The Network's position as the largest and most credible international online recruitment alliance, now providing access to 36 countries through a partnership of local market leaders.

Customers of the Network now have access to an even larger community of job seekers covering 23 out of 25 EU countries including all of the key recent EU accession countries.

Headquartered in Tallinn, Estonia, CV Market carries 160,000 CVs, has 205,000 registered users and seven million page views per month across the Baltic countries. The company also boasts the most advanced technical solutions for e-recruitment in the region.

Raivo Hein, CEO of CV Market commented: "As the Baltic countries continue to develop rapidly, our customers need efficient access to the larger Western European labour markets. Partnering with such a strong, established network of international sites will enable us to give our clients access to specialised skills and to more, high quality candidates. In turn, as the market leader in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, CV Market will provide international companies with access to the highly qualified and motivated workforces in Eastern Europe."

Jo Goossens, Managing Director of Corporate & Business Development for The Network, said: "Recruiters are increasingly recognizing the opportunity to source candidates from the fast-changing markets of Central and Eastern Europe. With CV Market we are continuing The Network's long-term strategy of providing easy access to international labour markets."
